WARRANTY

Guildline Instruments warrants its products to be free of defects in manufacture and normal operation for a period of 12 months from the date of purchase. This warranty applies only in the country of original purchase and only to the original purchaser who is also the end user.

Equipment which is defective or fails within the warranty period will be repaired or replaced at our factory without charge at the discretion of Guildline Instruments. Charges for shipping by original order shipping methods and carrier insurance to and from our factory are included.

Warranty coverage includes field analysis and repair at the customer's option subject to the availability of personnel. Travel time and travel plus living expenses for field service are not covered.

In addition, systems engineered by Guildline Instruments are warranted to be free of defects in overall system operation for a period of 12 months from date of receipt by the original purchaser.

System components purchased by Guildline carry the warranty of the original equipment manufacturer and will be accepted for claim by Guildline Instruments at our factory only after warranty authorization by the original manufacturer.

Warranty coverage does not apply to equipment which has failed due to misuse, neglect, accident or abnormal conditions of operation or if modifications or repairs have been made without prior authorization of Guildline Instruments.

Fuses, lamps and non-rechargeable batteries are not warranted. Glassware is not warranted against breakage. Temperature probes are not warranted against failure due to mechanical shock.

DAMAGE IN SHIPMENT TO ORIGINAL PURCHASER:
Instrument(s) should be thoroughly inspected immediately on receipt for visible damage. Any damage should be reported to the carrier and further inspection and operational tests should be carried out if appropriate to determine if there is internal damage. Normal repair procedures should then be followed. All final claims with the carrier must be completed by the purchaser.

Regular charges will apply to non warranty service.
External service charges and expenses will be billed at cost plus handling.
